

Greensborough Structure Plan

Project and engagement overview

What is happening?

It is Council's job to make local places and spaces safe, accessible and welcoming. We do this by writing plans.

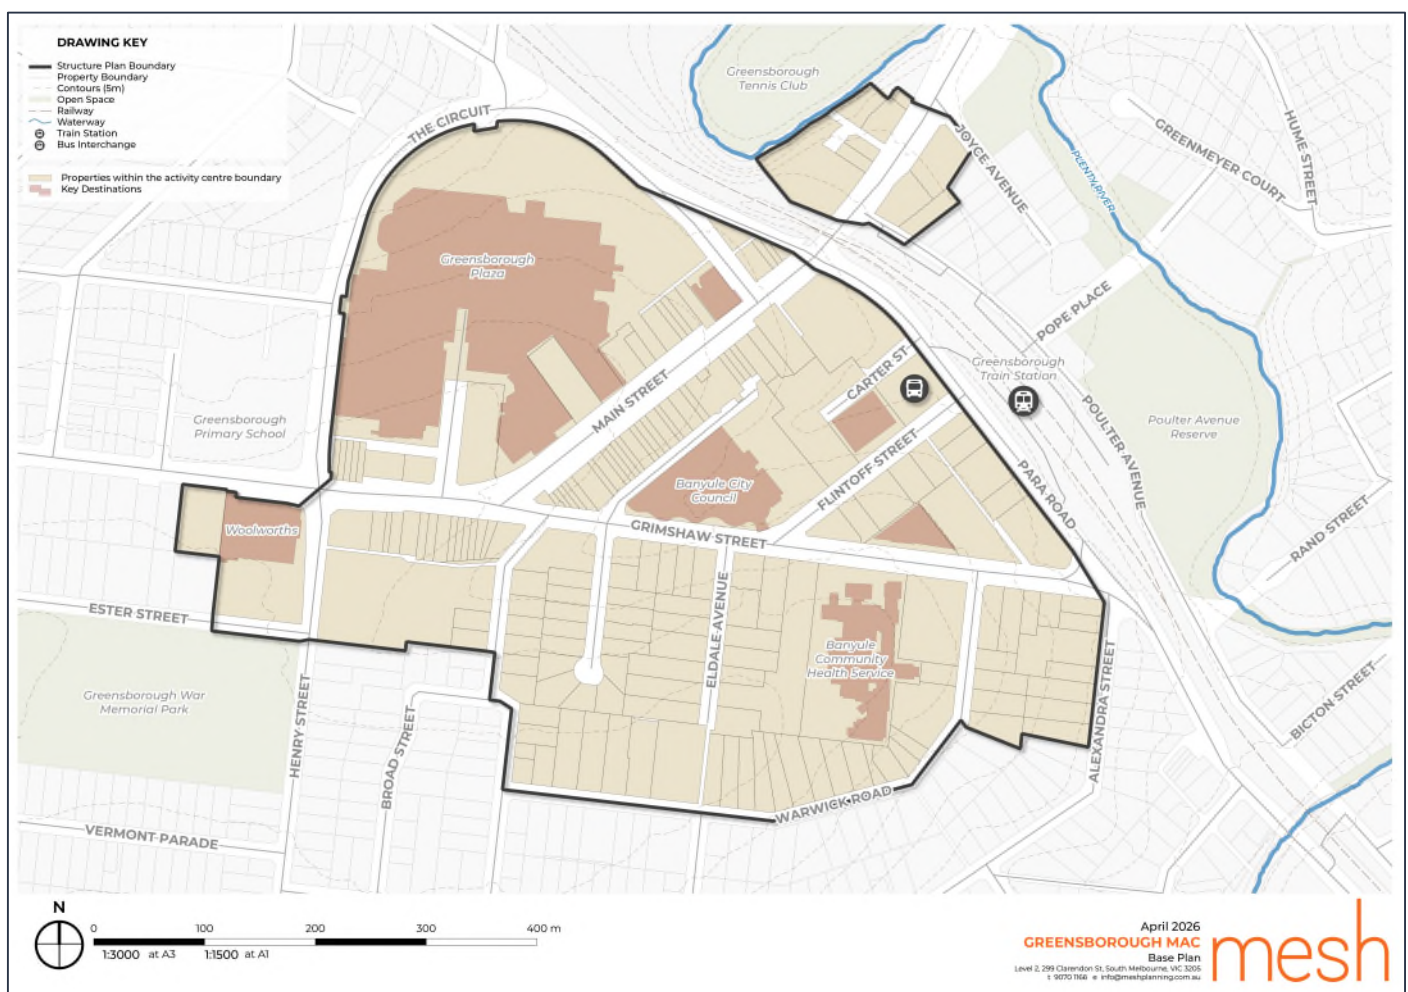

The Greensborough Structure Plan is nearly 20 years old. It is time to update the Plan.

What is a Structure Plan?

A Structure Plan is a plan for the future. It shows how a place will grow and change. A Structure Plan helps decide what is needed to make a place nicer to spend time and easier to move around.

A Structure Plan is for areas called activity centres. An activity centre has many shops, businesses and services that people use like banks, post office, supermarkets and medical facilities. An activity centre is close to public transport like trains and buses, and there are also houses and apartments.

This map shows the Greensborough Activity Centre. This is the area we want to talk with you about.

What does Council want to do?

- Make Greensborough Activity Centre better so that everyone can spend time there.
- Support local shops and jobs.
- Plan for new homes.
- Make it easier and safer to walk around.
- Improve places that anyone can visit.
- Plant more trees.

We want to hear from you

Greensborough Activity Centre is a place for everyone.

The new Structure Plan is needed because many things have changed and more people will live in Greensborough in the future.

Your ideas will help Council plan change in a good way that works for the community.

What you can help decide

- How new buildings should look.
- How streets and places should feel.
- What should be made better or kept.

What you cannot change

- The activity centre will grow and continue to be a shopping destination.
- New homes are needed.
